SEASONAL AFFECTIVE DISORDER

A syndrome characterized by depressions that recur annually at the same time each year, usually during the winter months. Symptoms include irritability, anxiety, decreased energy, increased appetite (carbohydrate cravings), increased duration of sleep, and weight gain. Seasonal affective disorder, also known as SAD, may be treated by daily exposure to bright artificial lights (PHOTOTHERAPY) during the season of recurrence.

Shock due to circulatory insufficiency caused most commonly by gram-negative bacteremia. It is less often the result of the persistent presence of other micro-organisms in the blood (fungemia, viremia); in rare instances, it is caused by gram-positive organisms, but with different symptomatology.
